Living the principles

“ As a Special Instructor, I am able to bring all my past experience to bear in support of families of children in need of Early Intervention services. I have a degree in Early Childhood, ran a licensed day care for 15 years and taught first grade for 23 years. Most significantly, I am a mom of five myself. So I feel at ease sharing my knowledge and experience--and my listening ears--to help support the child and to coach and collaborate with the parents. I help them understand that ‘play is a child’s work’ and that love of books starts as an infant. Those concepts are key to any child’s progress and development. ”
